

CORPORATE NEWS

DISCLOSURE OF AN INSIDE INFORMATION ACC. TO ARTICLE 17 MAR OF THE REGULATION (EU) No 596/2014

Düsseldorf, 03 June 2022

bet-at-home.com AG: Gaming supervisory authority in Germany calls for application of deposit limits according to the State Treaty on Gaming 2021 until 1 July 2022

The subsidiary of bet-at-home.com AG, bet-at-home.com Internet Ltd, Malta, offers online sports betting and online casino products in Germany. In Germany, the State Treaty on Gaming 2021 (GlüStV2021) stipulates that, in principle, a deposit limit of EUR 1,000 per month must be complied with across providers and products. However, provisions on the deposit limit have so far only been implemented at the level of the provider in the online casino sector due to complaints filed against the corresponding provisions of GlüStV2021.

The gaming supervisory authority has now informed bet-at-home.com Internet Ltd. that the deposit limits must be complied with in their entirety until 1 July 2022, whilst allowing to conditionally grant increased player limits. bet-at-home.com Internet Ltd. intends to defend itself against this in court by means of an emergency appeal.

Should the deposit limits provided for in GlüStV2021 be implemented from 1 July 2022, the Management Board assumes, based on its current and preliminary assessment, that the gross betting and gaming revenue achievable in Germany could decline significantly, at least in the short term. As Germany is a core market for the bet-at-home.com Group, this would probably also have a significant impact on gross betting and gaming revenue and the result of the bet-at-home.com AG Group as a whole. Further details will be disclosed after final legal and factual assessment.

About bet-at-home

The bet-at-home.com AG Group is active in the domain of online sports betting and online gaming. With about 5.6 million registered customers, the company (which is listed on the Frankfurt stock exchange) represents, together with its subsidiaries, one of the most popular gaming providers within the European Union. bet-at-home has companies in Germany, Austria, Malta and Gibraltar. The Group holds various licenses via its Maltese companies for online sports betting and online gaming. The licenses allow the company to organize and market online sports betting and online casinos. Since 2009, bet-at-home.com AG has been a part of the Betclik Everest SAS Group, which is a leading French Group in the domain of online sports betting and online gaming. bet-at-home is certified according to ISO/IEC 27001:2013 for all Group companies in Germany, Austria and Malta.

Contact

Investor Relations
+49 211 545 598 77
ir@bet-at-home.com
www.bet-at-home.ag